Community Input Survey Summary: Hallettsville, TX - Key Concerns and Recommendations

Business Development

- Strong desire for business diversification beyond vape shops
- Multiple requests for tax incentives/breaks for local businesses
- Need for better recruitment of outside businesses
- Calls for more dining options ("NOT MEXICAN")
- Interest in repurposing vacant properties (old Sonic)
- Request for an affordable grocery store

Workforce Issues

- Critical shortage of workers willing to work
- Need for more skilled job opportunities
- Suggestion to leverage high school talent for call centers/financial services
- Recommendation to attract white-collar employers (banking, insurance, tech support)
- Request for business skills training and mentorship

Housing and Infrastructure

- Affordable housing shortage limiting workforce growth
- Need for better internet connectivity for businesses
- Rent described as "too expensive for small businesses"
- Need for apartment complexes mentioned multiple times

Communication and Leadership

- Significant dissatisfaction with city council communication
- Complaints about lack of transparency ("nothing in the paper, nothing on social media")
- Calls for leadership restructuring
- Suggestion to hire a city manager for better public communication
- Perception that city doesn't support community organizations

Community Development

- Requests for more youth/teen recreational activities
- Interest in more downtown events and tourism opportunities
- City beautification mentioned as way to attract business
- Desire for entertainment venues
- Some resistance to growth ("I do not want future growth")

Healthcare

- Specific request for connection to Memorial Hermann at LMC
- Interest in adding labor and delivery services at LMC

The feedback reveals tension between desire for economic growth and maintaining small-town character, with particular frustration around communication, workforce shortages, and the types of businesses being established. Many respondents feel the city should be more proactive and innovative in economic development while providing better support for existing organizations.
