Q13 Other comments/observations/recommendations:

Answered: 34 Skipped: 44

Based on the community input from Martindale residents, here are the most important common issues to consider:

1. Road Repair and Maintenance: This is overwhelmingly the top concern mentioned by residents. Many comments emphasize that roads haven't been properly maintained for decades, are dangerous, crumbling, and should be the first priority before other improvements.
2. Infrastructure Development: Beyond just roads, residents mention the need for sidewalks, walking/biking trails, and improved utility services (water/sewer systems).
3. Public Spaces and River Access: Several comments mention improving parks, adding public restrooms to parks, and restoring community access to the river for swimming and recreation.
4. Growth Management: Residents express concern about population growth and development in surrounding areas, wanting to maintain Martindale's small-town character while still allowing for appropriate development.
5. Business Development: Some residents suggest attracting small businesses, particularly along Highway 80, with specific mentions of grocery stores and other daily-need businesses.
6. Communication Improvements: Residents want better communication methods for important events, with preferences for utility bill inserts and email notifications.
7. Ordinance Enforcement: There are concerns about lack of enforcement of existing ordinances regarding condemned houses, junk cars, and short-term rentals not paying taxes.
8. Community Inclusion: Some residents outside city limits (like those in Bella Vista Subdivision) want to be included in community decisions and receive information that affects them.

Many residents emphasize that infrastructure improvements (especially roads) should come before aesthetic or "want-based" improvements to downtown or other areas.
